Sydney Special Edition

Sydney Aquatic Centre

I was excited because I was about to go on a giant water slide! I went down the slide at tremendous speed. The slide twirled round and round. In about ten seconds I reached the bottom. I went on the slide 100 times.

In another pool was the rapid river ride. The ride was powered by water jets. It pulled you around and around, if you didn't swim out you would go round again. I went round lots with Jess and Rachael.

At the shallow area there was a GIANT bucket that had a bell on it to say that it was ready to tip over. I ran over and tonnes of water came down hard on my head it was AWESOME.

When we finished we saw that the Christmas tree was finished and got a photo for Miss Coyne.

We went to the train station and caught the train back so we could have dinner.

We had dinner at the Australian Hotel. For dinner we had fish and chips. The fish was cooked that well that I could that I run my fork through it. For drink we had two fire engines (which is lemonade mixed with red cordial).

For dessert we had ice-cream and got to the roof of where we were staying just in time for fireworks.

The 4D Sydney Eye Tower

We put our 4D glasses on and we went into the 4D cinema. This 4D cinema has fire and a parrot. I saw the Hyde Park and the Australian Museum. I saw through the telescope and the binoculars. I saw our hotel, it's called the Swissotel. We had fun at the Sydney Eye Tower. I saw the Harbour Bridge and the buildings. It was very, very high. I took some photos with Ben, Rachael, Jess and Darcy in the photo booth. We went up the lift to the very top to have a look at the view. Kelsey took a photo of all the other school children near the Madame Tussauds wax museum. I saw the cricket team and Steve Irwin from Bindi.

Sydney Aquarium

On Thursday 8th of November we went to the aquarium in Sydney. When we first got there we walked in a tunnel under Sydney Harbour. There were tropical fish, sharks, mantarays and much more. After that we went in another tunnel; there were fish like barramundi, giant trevally, normal trevally, sharks and bream.

Next we went to see the penguins, we went on little boats. There were big and small penguins. Baby penguins and unhatched penguins.

At the end we went and touched some stuff like starfish, sea worms and rocks. Finally we went to the souvenir shop Mr Schwetz got a penguin and I named it Pat the Penguin. It was the best part of the Sydney trip.

Sydney Harbour Bridge

We went to Sydney Harbour Bridge. We saw cars, boats and houses. It was long walk. At the end of the bridge we went down underneath the bridge then we walked to the train station and caught a train back to the accommodation.

Darling Harbour Water Park

We got on a ferry to the Maritime Museum wharf then we walked to Darling Harbour Water Park. At the water park there were dams, gates, spillways and rivers. Ben and I spent a lot of time gathering water to wash the toys down to the bottom of the spillway.

At the playground I climbed to the top of a rope tower. It was a good view up there then I got down for lunch at the water park. At the water park I had had fun chasing seagulls. We got changed and we went to the Maritime Museum

Taronga Zoo Extravaganza

One rainy day we arrived at Taronga Zoo by ferry.

We had been walking all morning and we needed to walk up to get to the sky safari. On the way up we saw an elephant eating a bale of hay.

The shop at Taronga Zoo was filled with stuffed animals, stubby holders and key chains.

Soon we saw the meerkats. They stood up and sniffed around. They were so cute and fluffy. They were digging around to find food in their dusty environment. I really enjoyed seeing the sixteen meerkats.

Next we went to the education centre. We went to the woodland classroom that was new there. There was a quail named Piper and a large bird that I can't remember its name.

At last we went to see the seals. There were two seals playing and swimming. The zoo was awesome.

China Town

We got off our train and walked to our first light rail. But as we walked on to the light rail the driver told us to get off because it was out of service. So we waited and waited and waited and after a solid 5mins of waiting it came. We got on the light rail and sat down.

We stopped and got off the light rail and started to look for a big entrance. Finally we found it, we started to search now for the China Town food court but we didn't have to search for long because it was right by the entrance.

We all sat down to order 6 lots of 21. But she only made one 21, she eventually figured it out, then we all got to eat, eat, eat. It was so delicious but I still couldn't eat it all. We had to leave because it was getting late. We were about to leave China Town, Mr Schwetz told us to stay while he bought us dessert. It was cream puffs, bite size except they had custard not cream. After devouring our cream puffs we left for the light rail.

Darcy pressed the emergency help button and a man's voice said "DO-YOU-REQUIRE-EMERGENCY-HELP?"

"No mate a kid pushed the button" Mr Schwetz said.

It was time to leave because we all had to go to bed.

Thanks for reading our Sydney Special Edition. Everybody had a wonderful but extremely tiring adventure.

We are flying towards the end of the year at an alarming pace. The kids are hard at work finishing up their work for the year and working on their items for presentation night. We hope to see you there at the CWA rooms on Thursday 13th December at 6pm.
